Subject: RE: ALPR questions

Did the Chicago Police Department receive federal funding for its ALPR systems? If so, can you tell me how much and from what agency?

For question one I know that I bought the last two systems with UASI 2009 ($36,583.00) monies from Motorola.

I talked with Larry and he thinks the rest were bought with asset forfeiture monies

- 2) 2- What is policies govern the use of the system? Do officers need probable cause – or some other legal standard – to search the database?

Well as we discussed their is a general order on this and a training manual that sets out the policy. We do not state when a officer can use the system or where we only stop and further investigate if a hit is generated. The hit can be a stolen vehicle, investigative alert on the license plate (Federal State and local), sometimes amber alerts etc.

- 3) 3- How long is data stored in the ALPR system?

As you know the data is stored in a fixed amount of data storage (40 gig). So I liken it to a bucket of water. When we had no hits the bucket was filled with water (Plate reads). Every time we get a hit we store it forever within the same bucket so think of it as putting a small pebble into the bucket. That pebble displaces a small amount of water so it decreases the amount of stored reads we can keep. Their is never a fixed amount of hits vs reads. The amount of reads is always decreasing until one day when the pebbles fill the bucket and we will not longer be able to store any reads.

- 4) 4- Finally, I have been interviewing a private company in Chicago, MVTRAC, that has its own ALPR system. Does the Chicago PD have any concerns about private companies collecting ALPR data in its jurisdiction?

Interesting question. What are they doing with this data? I think that may be an ALCU issue.

Dan, just tried calling you about this

I understand that we paid release #314 but not #306 for $36,583. I think that Marty confirmed that we did make this purchase (see attached) but we don't think we've paid yet – and time is running out (see Gloria's email below) to do so. Will you please take a look at this and let us know that it's been handled, or if there is an issue we need to know about? Thanks.

Hi Captain, there are two releases for Motorola under PO 8873 totaling $185,545.00 that are outstanding. The releases are 306 ($36,583.00) and 314 ($148,962.00). Can you please research these? If payments need to be made, can you please process the invoices? These funds expire 24 July and all payments must be made by 24 August or we will lose the funds. Please let me know if you have any questions. Thank you.

Subject: Outstanding encumbrances in 2009 UASI

Hi Captain, there are two releases for Motorola under PO 8873 totaling $185,545.00 that are outstanding. The releases are 306 ($36,583.00) and 314 ($148,962.00). Can you please research these? If payments need to be made, can you please process the invoices? These funds expire 24 July and all payments must be made by 24 August or we will lose the funds. Please let me know if you have any questions. Thank you.

Subject: FW: City of Chicago_$148,619.41_Recon refund issue

Hello Everyone,

Below are a trail of emails regarding an inquiry from Oracle.

Oracle is stating that in August 2011, they received two payments from the City that totaled $148,619.41 for two separate invoices. Upon receipt of the checks, Oracle believed the payments were duplicates and thus returned the funds to the City around April 2012.

Now Oracle believes the payments were not duplicates and are requesting to be refunded the funds they previously refunded to the City.

Since Oracle's inquiry, CPD Finance is able to confirm that "yes" the funds were received by Oracle and that $7,515.06 was deposited back into Corporate and $141,104.35 was deposited back into Federal Asset Forfeiture funds.

The next step we are exploring is to verify whether the City made duplicate payments to Oracle for those two payments/invoices. If the City did not duplicate payment, then the funds will have to be returned to Oracle. If the City did duplicate payment, then we need to apprise Oracle our findings for them to do further research.

We will keep everyone informed.

Thanks.

Michele James

Hello Krishnan

As Ms. Bullock stated below, CPD Finance is in receipt of your inquiry.

Before we can authorize a refund in the amount of $148,619.41, we need to research your inquiry. Since the records go back to FY2011, we have to look through our archive records.

Please direct all of your inquiries to my attention. I will keep you posted of any updates.

Thank you.

When you have time can you please look into and see if this is one of your vendors that you would create a receipt for? Look like they where paid and they refunded that payment and now they need to be repaid.

We thought that the payment was a duplicate as same invoices were referred in both the checks and later we got to know that you had paid these invoices in installment.

But instead of applying the payment to the invoices refund was processed in error for a total of $148619.41 thru check #1802567 on 19-APR-2012.

When we did reconciliation on your account we found that the payment which was received initially was applied to invoice#6345075 for $148619.41 and also a refund had been processed for the same.

Hence we request you to please look into this issue and re send us the refund which was wrongly processed thru check #1802567.

Appreciate your immediate response. Request you to please notify me ASAP once u have made the payment to us.

Check copies and refund check have been attached below for reference.

Please send us the payment to the below address thru EFT/Wire transfer –
