Sorry, yes, meant to include that. They will come to the parking lot right outside of Building 5 which is accessed off of 31st street just west of California. Post 7 is the number I believe, but its the first turn into a lot they can make after California. There should be parking and they'll come into the shorter of the two buildings there and follow the signs to the basement training room. I'll be in a seminar tomorrow, but you can feel free to give them Lt Jason O'Malley's contact number -- 312-771-5924.

Thanks much.

John,

Thanks for the guidance below and for bearing with our delay in response, we were internally discussing options. As far as I understand this far, the network modification that we need made needs to happen within the Chicago Police network.

Specifically we need a change added that allow [REDACTED] at Cook County.

Let us know if this is clearly a Cook County NCC request but it seems it is on the Chicago Police network side. If this is accurate, can you request and/or make this change?

Best,

Unfortunately I as the applications and database contractor have no access to assist with that.

You will need to be put in touch with Cook County and Chicago Police network engineers to set up another route and firewall opening between the two agencies.

Ask them to get you routed through to Chicago Police internal [REDACTED]

Cook County's Morphotrack system should already have a route through to that so maybe that can be a good starting point for them.

Neither my workstation connected to Cook County via VPN, nor our servers at CCSO can reach [REDACTED]

When connected via VPN, we have to tunnel through our servers normally – this is why there was no ip address in the hostname slot. We map localhost 1521 to go through our CCSO server to .103 or .104.

Sorry I had not responded earlier.

I thought we discussed on the phone that (according to notes from Morphotrack) you should be accessing the Mugshot Database server on IP address 199.177.61.191. You said you would try a Telnet session to port 1521 at this IP and if that timed out then we could conclude that this was the wrong IP address or that the routing is not in place.

Please give Telnet a Try and also try a SQL Developer connect [REDACTED]

Your screen shot below shows you forgot to insert an IP address in the Hostname slot [REDACTED] there. As discussed, the value shown in my screen shot is the local [REDACTED] don't use that one.

[REDACTED] you have mentioned below are the ones you said you use to reach the CLEAR database server (a completely different machine) so those will definitely not work for mugshots. If you are reaching the CLEAR database listener, it does not recognize that service name so it will refuse connection.

Let me know how that goes.

Copying PSIT management to keep them in the loop as well.

Thanks,

Hi Scott,

I hope this note finds you well. We received your contact information from Jonathan Lewin and we work with Robert McInerney at Cook County – Palantir serves as the data analysis platform for CCSO.

We currently have access to the CPD Clear Incidents and Arrests database but have been in search of a connection to query for offender images for some time. Jonathan indicated that you could help us with the details necessary to access the images. Previously, we were told we could access the images [REDACTED] ever it doesn't seem that we can access that server or database due to firewall restrictions.

Let us know if you have an additional way to access the images or can assist us in removing the firewall restriction. If you'd like to discuss via phone, just indicate an available time.

Kind regards,
Casey

Keep in mind that there are 100's of companies that have the exact same approach to social media. Even Palantir's social media solution, torch, is using the same approach.

Also, nobody has the fully automated social network analysis capability they we have. Everyone need to manually connect one node (person) at a time.

We can discuss this and more on Thursday or even tomorrow.

Bob-

Thanks for lunch the other week. We briefly discussed Palantir-- is there someone I could talk to about how you're using it, what data sources, how much it cost, what you think of it? I'd love to get a test account to try it out, as well-- if that'd be possible.

My turn next, let me know when you're free for lunch-- I'm out most of next week in Houston but free the following week.

Thanks!

Yes.. looked at it, City is buying it for non-law enforcement stuff and we had a few demos. Trying to get out to NYPD to see it in the next month or two. I'd be interested to hear your feedback about it, and also your experience with other analytics tools (we're looking at Geofeedia, Pathar, Vigilant, and a few others).

Too bad you can't make it to Monterey!

Hope all is well otherwise... usual craziness here!

Very interesting. We are looking hard at Palantir. Any experience with the system? I believe Tiffany spoke to a colleague at Cook County. Unfortunately, I won't be able to make the trip to Monterey this year. Maybe next year.

Essentially it's a model that looks at criminal social networks and connections from a primary subject to their co-arrestees (up to two levels of association) to predict future parties to violence-- the model tests its predictions with actual outcomes so it can be refined to become more accurate.

Happy to discuss when you're free-- are you going to the conference at NPS? Mike Mealer, Josh Dennis and Marty Ryczek (prior cohort) and I are going...

Subject: Palantir Training -- May 20-22

Hi Everyone,

Palantir will be back in town next week Tuesday May 20 - Thursday May 22 to conduct additional training sessions. We will be offering the Intro course again for anyone who missed that last time, as well as several sessions of advanced training for those who attended last month. I am attaching here the roster of individuals who attended last month's training for your reference.

Below you will find the dates and times that training will be offered, along with info on which level of training will be conducted during each time slot. Just as last time, you will need to register anyone from your unit who is interested in attending training. Please email me the names of individuals along with the date/time session they wish to attend. I will need your registration via email no later than noon on Friday, May 16th, please. I will send calendar invites for the sessions out that afternoon so you and your employees have time to plan.

Sessions are as follows:

Tuesday, May 20, 9:00 AM - 12:00 PM -- Intro (no previous experience required)
Tuesday, May 20, 1:00 PM - 4:00 PM -- Intro (no previous experience required)
Wednesday, May 21, 2:00 PM - 5:00 PM -- Advanced (previous 101 training required)
Thursday, May 22, 8:00 AM - 11:00 AM -- Advanced (previous 101 training required)
Thursday, May 22, 12:30 PM - 3:30 PM -- Advanced (previous 101 training required)

The Advanced training session will build upon the Intro, and will cover exporting profiles, timeline, team collaboration, creating and using filters, importing documents, and map analysis.

Classes will be held at South Campus, Building 5, Basement Training Room. Each session can accommodate up to 22 individuals. If there is an overwhelming demand for additional 101 Intro classes, we will do our best to add in an additional session to accommodate.

Please let me know if you have any questions. I can be reached at 312-590-0849.

Thanks much,

BB

Follow-up from our last call. We've identified a number of resources to plug into the dashboard. However, I think it's too many data sources for a reasonably clean dashboard.

If the point is to conduct investigations, I wonder if Palantir would be more appropriate. It's designed around the exploratory nature better than dashboarding. What are your thoughts?

Our interface between you and Palantir just failed. As we are still trying to get a new support contract, we don't have any resources on site that can trouble shoot the problem. It comes from this military style of management. When you get used to ordering everybody around, I think you forget that the normal rules of human psychology are still in effect. You can order everybody to use SSL, but if they don't know or care what it is, it won't work out. In other words, you can order somebody to do something, but you can't order somebody to do it well. They have to want to do it, and know how to do it.

They should have involved us with selected users at the beginning to improve the product and get buy-in, and then have us do an orientation right away at CompStat to teach it to the bigger group and get them interested.

I think this is also why the custom notifications thing was such a mess. If nobody knows what it is, how can they do it right?

Well, what RAND and NIJ said was all true, and it's probably for the best that they expose the problem. It might not fix it, but it should be said, and maybe it will make a small difference.

If the CompStat presentation actually happens, that could be a good chance to recruit interested individuals who might give input on how to improve the usefulness of the tools. This might improve buy-in. People always like something better if they had some say in it.

PS Yes, I would like to hear what you learned from the custom notifications presentation. Schuetz and Hollywood said that the CPD intervention was a mess, and it is unclear what was actually done. They have a high opinion of you and me, but a low opinion of the way we interact with the rest of the department, and the way they use the tools.

Interesting. We have not actually purchased Palantir yet, but will likely do so; partially because both the City and Cook County Sheriff have implemented it and there will be some cross-platform interoperability and cost-savings (potentially). I totally agree re: Palantir. I attended Chief Tracy's presentation with David Kennedy today on Custom Notifications; only about 20 people at most in attendance. Will brief you. He mentioned again how happy he was with our presentation and your SSL 3 work.

I met with that guy for breakfast this morning. It turned out he was actually quite pleasant after all. They are a company based in New Zealand that sells a lower cost alternative to Palantir. It sounds quite similar, so I guess it would not be of any interest to CPD, since you already have Palantir. They have not broken into the US market significantly - they mainly sell to Asia. Their applications are mainly around low-volume crimes, like financial crimes and organized crime, rather than things like burglaries.

The only slightly bad news is that they are trying to implement something like SSL within their link charting framework, but so far they are just beginning. He did not actually try to sell me anything, and did not express interest in meeting with you. I think he was more trying to learn about the state of our project and keep an eye on us. We agreed that we'd stay in touch in case there are future opportunities to collaborate in some way.

We had one point of agreement. He was very dismayed by the PredPol event. He said the product is very "rudimentary" and that he doesn't know of any other first-world country where the police chief could get up and do a sales pitch like the Atlanta guy did. He thought it was shameful.

Jonathan,

Our interface between you and Palantir just failed. As we are still trying to get a new support contract, we don't have any resources on site that can trouble shoot the problem. Can you give me a name (and e-mail) of someone on your team that we can work with to see if anything changes with the format of your data?

Let me know.

Thanks.

Cmdr. Lewin,

Hope you are well. I am glad we had a chance to connect on Friday. As I mentioned, we would like to have you visit our NYC offices to share more about our work, particularly in supporting NYPD, when you are in town. What is your schedule availability for February 18th?

Building upon our previous demo and discussion with you and your team in Chicago, we can also share some additional capabilities that other customers use in their daily work either in command or patrol. For example, we recently rolled-out Palantir access across all ~2,000 patrol cars within LA Sheriff's Department – officers can now also access Palantir in their vehicles in a "driver friendly" format.

We look forward to sharing more information about our work across key law enforcement agencies with you and your team. Please let me know what timing works best for you on Feb 18 or otherwise that week.

Thanks!

We're doing a news event in the new CPIC today to demonstrate the new technology including radio interoperability, and I might ask if we can test calling you on a Cook County Sheriff's frequency (I'm 9200, or may come up as CPIC 1 or Chicago Police CPIC or something)... would you or someone be available with a radio that has an appropriate frequency we could dial up around 11A - Noon or so?

Subject: Palantir

Brenna,

Just talked to Katie and also reached out to Mike Masters from Cook County Homeland Security-- by coincidence, Palantir is doing a demo for Mike and Lydia Murray this Friday. I also discussed with Gary Schenkel and, if County is interested, perhaps this could become a collaboration (at least for public safety / homeland security use). It could potentially open the door to UASI funding (2014, not 2013; which is already allocated).

Will discuss with Mike after his Fri meeting for feedback...

Jonathan

Bob,

I now have a 1:30P today that I can't miss. Can we possibly reschedule? If not I'll try to send a rep today. Sorry for the short notice!

Thanks!
Jonathan

Bob-

Thanks for lunch the other week. We briefly discussed Palantir-- is there someone I could talk to about how you're using it, what data sources, how much it cost, what you think of it? I'd love to get a test account to try it out, as well-- if that'd be possible.

My turn next, let me know when you're free for lunch-- I'm out most of next week in Houston but free the following week.

Thanks!

Jonathan
